THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Two Notable Weddings Took Place at Noon Today.

The Warder-Thoron Marriage-A Distinguished Party - Personal

Notes of Interest.

The marriage of Miss Ellen Warder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Warder, and Mr. Ward Thoron, at the Warder residence at high noon today, was witnessed by a gathering of relatives and intimate friends,

mainly of the younger acquaintances of the bride, that comfortably filled the spacious rooms and wide hall where the solemn event took place. The ceremony took place at the extreme end of the hall in front of the wide hreplace, which was hidden by the rich floral decoration. Curtains of asparagus were tied back on either side of the wide hearth by great bunches of waite enrysanthemums and garlands of the same flower made a rich frieze from which was suspended in the middle of the parted draperies two wreaths, one of pink and one of white chrysantnemums. A screen of maidenhair fern, across which a spray of white chrysantnemums was artistically thrown, filled the fireplace. In the horary quantities of long-stemmed American Beauty roses filled the vases and jars and in each of the other rooms either chrysanthemums or roses were used in the same way. The ceiling of the picture galiery was sprayed with green and the landings at each turn in the stairway had overhanging clusters of chrysanthemums and maidennair fern. There were six ushers: Mr. George Ward, There were six ushers: Mr. George Ward, The chrysanthemums and maidennair fern. There were six ushers: Mr. George Ward, The chrysanthemums and maidennair fern. The report shows: Number of deaths, $2; white, 55; colored, 37. Death rate per 1,000 per annum: White, 14.6; colored, 21.4. Total probability of the colored white chrysantnemums. A screen of maid-IF THE BABY IS CUTTING TEETH BE SURE and use that old well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Knagennjelm of the Swedish legation, Mr. George Warder of German-town and Mr. W. H. Phillips. The emoiem of their position was the large boutonnieres of lines of the valley they wore. Their duty before the coming down of the brue was to arrange comfortable places for all to view the ceremony. The relatives of both the bride and groom were grouped in the hail. When the wedding march was played the usners placed themselves at stations leading to the bower and the bridesmaids and the bride and her father came down the wide stairway and ap-proached the bower where his eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, and the the groom and his best man, Mr. Herbert Lyman of Boston, awaited their coming. The impressive ceremony was short and very soon the newly married couple were surrounded by their friends offering their congratulations. The bride looked especially sweet and attractive in her bridal gown which was made simply and without trimming, of heavy white satin. The train was moderately long and the bodice had a yoke and half sleeve effect of white chiffon put on in fine-lyfolded plaits, while the satin was draped on the lower part of the walst. Her tule veil was caught to the hair by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her two younger sis-ters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Alice Warder, who were the bridesmaids, wore becoming gowns of pale pink chiffon and carried great clusters of the new pink rose, Madame Testout. The groom and his best man wore as boutonnieres, white orchids. A wedding breakfast followed the cere mony at which the one hundred guests par-took, seated at small tables in the dining room and picture gallery. The bride's pres-ents were not shown today, but the inti-mate friends who enjoyed that pleasure yesterday have rarely seen a more notable and elegant collection.

Later this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Thoron started away for a trip, the destination of which was left entirely for their friends to surmise. They will return about the 1st of December and at once go to housekeeping grand parents, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Endicott were also present. Another large company of frie roday for the marriage of Miss Minnie Francis Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Johnson, to Mr. Robert adorris Richards, son of Maj. A. C. Richards. Rev. Dr. McKim performed the ceremony. The chancel was set with palms and on the altar were bunches of pink and white rhrysanthemums. The ushers were Dr. Deale, Mr. Cook Flenner, Mr. Griffith, Mr. Ernest Fairbanks of Boston, and Mr. Ernest Johnson of Baltimore, who were kept busy until the last moment scating the guests. They preceded the bride to the line, the waist trimmed with accordion pleated chiffon. A becoming hat matched in color and the flowers she carried were in color and the flowers she carried were La France roses. A wedding breakfast followed at the residence of the bride's parents, 1316 Vermont avenue and later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Richards started for Fortress Monroe, whence, after spending a few days, they will go north. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in their new residence on Corcoran street, which the bride's father has entirely furnished as one of his wedding gifts. The bride received a great number of other presents, and among them a full service of silver.

Capt. Bourke Vindicated.

The vindication of Capt. John G. Bourke of the third cavalry of the charges preferred against him for his conduct in the Garza campaign on the Mexican border, has been completed by an order just issued by the War Department, directing him to join his regiment in Texas. Capt. Bourke is ner in throwing innocent citizens in jail during the trouble with Garza, and the matter was discussed in Congress and considered by the War Department. No action was taken on the charges, but the United States court at San Antonio gave practical exone-ration to the captain by its judgment in the cases of prisoners brought before it. in the cases of prisoners brought before it for violation of the neutrality laws. Capt. Bourke has a good record as an Indian fighter, and was recently awarded a medal of honor for gallant conduct.
